HEART OF DISTRICT WRUNG WITH PITY FOR AGED SUFFERER

GENEROUS RESPONSE TO APPEAL FOR AID RESULTS IN LIBERAL DONATIONS OF FOOD, MONEY AND OTHER NECESSITIES FOR OLD MAN

That appeal in The Review of yesterday for the old man and his folks living in the tent under Warren hill did not go unanswered by the good people of this district. Many people stopped to see the old pilgrim yesterday and many more called on the telephone. Among the most active was Mrs. C. D. O'Neal, who, in company with Mrs. George Danahaur, called upon several merchants to contribute and then, through the kindness of R. M. Moncrief, who donated his car, took the food down to the tent.

Two little girls also came to The Review office, bringing food for this old man, expressions of kindly sympathy more precious than any food. Among the business firms that aided in this matter were: Geo. Hickey, James Fenna, Tovera, the Phelps Dodge, Kelley, and others.

In this connection, The Review wishes to state that the Associated Charities of the district had not been neglectful of this case. They have given aid and clothing and helped to send one of the children back to the coast. The Review's appeal was made because of the unusual and complete misfortune that had overwhelmed these families. It appealed for a word of sympathy for them and a little interest as well as material help. The little tent had been overlooked from carelessness, that was all. This district is as warm-hearted and as generous as any on earth. Just a word was all that was necessary to stir many warm hearts among all classes of our people.

CHARITIES SOCIETY IN THIS DISTRICT KEPT QUITE BUSY

SINCE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC STARTED IN BISBEE AND VICINITY THERE HAVE BEEN MANY CALLS DAY AND NIGHT TO BE ANSWERED

The Associated Charities of the district are having a busy time of it since the influenza epidemic made its appearance here. Mrs. Cummings reports to The Review. For weeks there have been many calls, day and night, to aid the sick and many of these cases are most pathetic, the families being entirely destitute. Not only must there be medicine and medical attendance and nursing provided, but also fuel and food and clothes. The crest of the epidemic has passed, Mrs. Cummings said, but there are still many cases to care for.

As soon as the quarantine is raised the Associated Charities will hold their annual meeting and make reports of work done during the year.

SWITCHMAN LIES AT POINT OF DEATH IN C. Q. HOSPITAL

WRENCH THROWN IN HALF PLAY BY ENGINEER LINDERMAN, STRIKES SWITCHMAN M'WILLIAMS OVER TEMPLE PENETRATING BRAIN

As a result of a continuous raw-hiding of one another for the past three days, J. McWilliams, a switchman, lies in the Copper Queen hospital at the point of death from a wound in his head and Charles Linderman, an E. P. & S. W. engineer, is held in jail pending the result of the injuries of McWilliams.

A few days ago McWilliams was working with Linderman, who was handling a string of cars in the local yards and the brakes would not work well and one of the cars went beyond where it should have stopped. McWilliams began to josh Linderman, who is known among the railroad men as "Heinie," about not being able to handle his engine and stop the cars. "Heinie talked back to him and told him he should have set the brakes. They kept at one another on this strain for the past few days. On Thursday night about 10 o'clock, when they had just completed their work, they started in again and one word led to another. McWilliams started toward "Heinie" with a brake chisel, making some remark. "Heinie," who was working on his engine, had a hammer and cold chisel in his hand, but stooped over and picked up a small Stillson wrench that was lying there and tossed it toward McWilliams. McWilliams dropped and Linderman and a fellow brakeman who were watching the affair rushed over to him and picked him up and took him to the hospital. The sharp point of the wrench had penetrated the skull into the brain just over the left temple to a depth of an inch or more. He was placed on the operating table and the wound dressed and was doing as well as could be expected last night, but the doctors do not have much hope of his recovery.

As soon as Linderman was advised of the condition of McWilliams after the doctors had examined him he delivered himself up to the officers. He is now being held awaiting the result of the wound. He is greatly overcome with grief and is continually sobbing and bemoaning his careless act. He has a wife and little boy in this city. Nothing is known of McWilliams relatives.

BAKER GIVES LEGAL BUSINESS AS HIS REASON

Sends Letter to Governor Hunt, Declines to Accept Appointment Because of His Business

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 1.—Judge A. C. Baker has declined to accept the position on the supreme court bench made vacant by the resignation of Chief Justice Alfred Franklin. Judge Baker, in a letter to Governor Hunt, gave as his reason for declining, the necessity of remaining in practice during November and December on account of several important cases which require his personal attention. Governor Hunt said yesterday afternoon he had not yet decided to whom he would offer the position, that he was considering the matter.

Following is Judge Baker's letter to Governor Hunt:

Dear Sir: I desire to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 25th inst., notifying me of my appointment to the judgeship made vacant by the resignation of Judge Alfred Franklin. I thank you very sincerely for your kind consideration in designating me to fill this exalted and dignified office, and I assure you that I would accept the honor and enter upon the discharge of the duties thereof at once only for the fact that existing professional engagements preclude me from assuming these duties.

Several important cases in which I have been retained, and paid fees, are pending for trial in November and December. These cases have been entrusted to my care by clients because they relied upon my individual and personal efforts in their behalf, and they are such cases that I cannot possibly transfer to other attorneys. It is my bounden duty to these clients to continue my present attitude until I can try and dispose of these cases. It is for this reason and this reason only, that I must beg you to excuse me from accepting the honor, to you so kindly tender me.

In the event of my election by the people in November to the judgeship, I would remain free to try and dispose of such cases before my induction into the office in January. Assuring you of my high personal regards, I am Very truly yours, A. C. BAKER.

MEXICO COURT FINDS AGAINST FOREIGN OWNERS

Oil Decrees Held by Foreigners to Be Confiscatory Are Upheld by Supreme Court of Country

(By Review Leased Wire) MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—The supreme court, after weeks of argument, has decided, according to reports published today, to refuse the foreign oil corporations' petition against a suspension of the preliminary holding certificates recently granted these corporations staying the execution of the presidential oil decrees of July 31 and August 8 and 12, which constitute a ground work for the regulation of taxation of oil lands. The vote was unanimous. This decision means that the decrees objected to by the oil interests as confiscatory will stand. The oil companies offered no objection to the taxes fixed on producing lands, but they attacked the decree opening to denunciation lands which are not being exploited.

AGREE ON TERMS.

(By Review Leased Wire) LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Versailles conference agreed late yesterday on the armistice terms governing the maritime powers of the Central Empires. The proposals contain six points which are believed to throw every safeguard around the German fleet.

FIRE PREVENTION MUST BE AIM OF PEOPLE HERE TODAY

GOVERNMENT AND FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES ALIKE FIND IT MOST IMPORTANT TO SAFEGUARD PROPERTY FROM FLAMES BY PRECAUTIONS

The importance attached to proper observance of today (Saturday, November 2) as "Fire Prevention Day" is emphasized by the following matter enclosed in a letter to Jacob Erickson, mayor of Bisbee, together with a proclamation of Governor Hunt, setting the date for observance:

"The conservation of property is important at all times, but it is now a vital necessity. Every call of patriotism, every demand of high citizenship emphasizes the duty of the individual property owner and householder to spare no pains in safeguarding against fire hazards and in striving to reduce the excessive and largely unnecessary fire waste of the nation."

The president has said: "Preventable fire is more than a private misfortune. It is public dereliction. At a time like this of emergency and of manifest necessity for the conservation of national resources, it is more than ever a matter of deep and pressing consequence that every means should be taken to prevent this evil."

"Will you not urge upon the people of your city the necessity for making a general clean-up, by the freeing of all premises from rubbish of every description and the removal of all inflammable substances from cellars, closets, attics, store rooms and places infrequently visited, where fires might originate."

"Here are some figures that should open our eyes. In 1913, the year before the outbreak of the war, the average fire loss for each man, woman and child in France was 43 cents; in England it was 33 cents, in Germany 28 cents, in Austria 25 cents, in Italy 25 cents, in Switzerland 15 cents, in Holland only 11 cents. In the United States for the same year the direct loss was $2.10—and the indirect loss was far higher. Our record was, therefore, more than four times as bad as that of France, and nearly 20 times as bad as that of Holland."

"Vienna and Chicago are cities of about the same size. Vienna had fire losses for the year 1913 of $303,200. Chicago's were $5,513,237, or more than 18 times as great. New York city's fire losses were about four and one-half times as large as those of London. A similar comparison might be made with many other cities. Can we be proud of such figures?"

"Of course, there are more modern buildings in America than in Europe. This is a condition which will take many years to change. But the most serious cause of fires could be removed at once if all the people would assist. This cause is found in one word—carelessness."

"The Nation Board of Fire Underwriters makes a study of hundreds of thousands of fires, and has prepared tables which show that in 1916, 28.9 per cent of all American fires came from strictly preventable causes, while 47.8 per cent more partly preventable, and 23.3 per cent came from unknown causes, which probably were largely preventable."

"It must then be admitted that the United States with all its advantages, is a nation of careless people. Carelessness is not a thing to be proud of; it is a great national sin. It shows itself in many habits of recklessness, wastefulness and untidiness. It burns our towns, it leads people to risk their lives at railroad crossings and other places of danger; it takes chances with health; it is shown in all dirty streets, littered backyards and untidy homes."

"If a foreign army should land upon our shores, it could not wreak more destruction than this. If such an army should come and any American were found to be giving it aid, he would be called a traitor to his country. Every patriot would rise against such a foe."

"The spirit of carelessness in the United States is really a greater enemy than any foreign invader, and it is found in millions of little, unconscious acts of carelessness. Whenever you, yourself, commit such an act, therefore, you really range yourself as an enemy of your country—but if you begin earnestly to watch your actions and to form new habits of carelessness, you will be helping our great nation to become safer, healthier, happier, more efficient, and more useful to humanity. This is the spirit of true patriotism!"

artillery is being used to hamper the retreat.

"Divisions of Italian cavalry have annihilated the resistance of the enemy at the Livorno, have re-established the communications to make the passage of infantry easier and are already nearing the Tagliamento river."

"The Sixth Italian army went into action yesterday and has brilliantly carried on an irresistible action on the Brenna, supported by the Ancona brigade."

"The Fourth army has completed the occupation of the Valley of Fonzaso and the Bologna brigade has occupied Filire."

"The Twelfth army, after conquering the Pass of Quero, has rapidly advanced north of Belluno and after brilliantly rounding the depression of Vadalto has advanced on Belluno and occupied the city."

"The Third army, reinforced also by a regiment of marines, has occupied the whole intricate zone along the Adriatic."

"In the direction of Udine the Italian troops also are fast advancing. Pordone has fallen into our hands. At the extreme eastern sector of the front Italian marines have occupied Caorle."

NOTICE
Two years ago the people of this county laid aside all political consideration to give me the office of county school superintendent. In return I have given the best service of which I have been capable. That has meant spending most of my time and energy upon the little country schools which at best work under great handicaps. Above everything else I have used this office to give the rural children a part in every possible war activity, as a privilege that will make them more intelligent American citizens.

Beyond making this statement, I shall do no campaigning. The work of this office has so increased since the war, that I should have to neglect it were I to take time for such purely personal business.

SPANISH INFLUENZA

Resembles Old Fashioned Grip

The symptoms of Spanish Influenza are very similar to old fashioned grip—pains throughout the body, extreme dizziness, sleepiness, chills, high fever, headache, disturbed digestion with running at the nose and eyes and excessive spitting, showing an inflammation and congestion of the mucous linings.

Manifested by Catarrhal Condition

With the first symptoms of Influenza, it is well to consult your family physician at once. It is not the disease itself that is to be feared so much as it is the complications which may follow. To ward off Spanish Influenza or as an aid to returning health after an attack, nothing is any better than Dr. Hartman's World Famous Peruna.

For Catarrh of Every Description Take PE-RU-NA

The well known and direct action of Peruna in restoring and maintaining a healthy condition of the mucous membranes throughout the body makes it the greatest disease preventing and health restoring remedy known to science.
